

Advertising for Software Advantage

In a crowded human resources software market, Cyborg wanted to create a series of print ads to increase presence and name recognition. We translated our white-board brainstorming sessions of feature and benefits into a distinctively visual campaign that separated our client from the competition.

