

Advertising for Software

To launch a new $100K software system that was expected to be met with ‘another new software to learn’ reaction, we used humorous headlines with appropriate characters — from tech to administrators — in lighthearted activities. Messages clearly drove positioning that Destiny was ‘easy to learn/use AND comprehensively powerful’. The product launch helped deliver 190 percent of estimated net revenue in the first 11 months.